

New Policy

Enlisting of security company services by Tourist Accommodation applicants or licensees

- Owners of tourist accommodation may enlist the services of security companies available on the market and are no longer be restricted to choose from the list of approved security companies which is posted on the website of the Tourism Authority.
- The responsibility would rest with the tourist accommodation applicant or licensee to ensure that the company enlisted is able to provide security services which is up to standard and does not compromise on safety and security at the establishment. Security companies providing CCTV should be licensed by the Information and Communication Technologies Authority (ICTA) and if they are also offering guarding services, they should be issued with a clearance from the Mauritius Police Force.
